

EYEWITNESS DESCRIBES BATTLE OF FONTENELLE

Gives Details of Furious Fighting in Which French Capture
"Height 627."

PARIS, July 17, 7 p.m.—A French official "eyewitness" at the front has sent a dispatch giving details of the success of the entente allies in the battle of Fontenelle, in the Vosges. The scene of the conflict is in the neighborhood of the village of Senones and the forest of Ormont, and the ground is described as undulating and cut by deep ravines.

It was in this region, says the observer, that the Germans, after the battle of the Marne, took up a position on a summit commanding the surrounding country side. This hill was Height 627, which is known as Fontenelle.

"June 22, after severe losses the enemy succeeded in occupying Fontenelle," says the observer. "Although we counter attacked vigorously, taking 142 prisoners, the enemy held the summit. Gen. Van Kudenzen, in a report dated July 3, said that after a careful inspection of the German works and trenches, he firmly believed that the hill had been transformed into an impenetrable fortress, and that its capture would necessitate tremendous losses."

Darkness Aids in Attack.

"July 8 all necessary preparations for the attack had been completed. The same day, at nightfall, three columns, aided by a remarkably accurate artillery fire, took a portion of the enemy's trenches. In the center we also attacked, forcing the enemy back to the west of Launois in ten minutes. The attack on the left progressed slowly, but, at daybreak, the whole of the summit had been retaken, but a majority of the German defenses as far as the road from Launois to Moyenne. Thanks to our artillery all preparations for counter attacks were immediately stopped. July 8 and 9 we took 881 prisoners, including twenty-one officers. When questioned, the prisoners stated they were of excellent artillery marksmanship, saying: 'We did not believe there could be such a hell of fire.'"

SAYS RUMOR IS UNFOUNDED.

Ambassador Marye Denies He Ever Contemplated Resigning.

PETROGRAD, July 17, 1 p.m., via London, 7 p.m.—George T. Marye, the United States ambassador to Russia, when apprised today of the report circulated in America regarding his resignation expressed great surprise, and said he was entirely at a loss to know how the unfounded rumor originated. He denied that he had ever contemplated such a step. The ambassador said: "I have found my duties in Russia most congenial, and I am glad to have an opportunity of performing an important service at this highly critical time. 'At present my duties at the embassy are very onerous, and will continue to be so. Nothing is further from my mind than a desire to abandon them. Mrs. Marye will return to Petrograd in the summer.'"

INDIAN-OFFICE FOLK ENJOY RIVER OUTING

Excursion to Indian Head Enjoyed by Large Crowd of "Interior" Employees.

One of the most successful river excursions ever given by employees of the Indian office terminated late last night when a happy crowd trooped over the gangplank of the steamer Frederick Du Barry after its trip to Indian Head.

The steamer left the wharf at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, carrying a large gathering of employees of the Indian offices and their friends, together with employees of other bureaus of the Interior Department. Mrs. Margaret Hopkins Worrell headed the committee in charge.

E. B. Merritt, assistant Indian commissioner, gave a short talk on "Indian Affairs," in the formal part of the day's program, which took place after the steamer left Fenwick, Md., where lunch was served.

Mr. Merritt spoke briefly of the work being done by the Indian schools throughout the country, and told of Indian participation in the governmental life of the state of Oklahoma. Mr. Merritt was introduced by G. K. Weston, manager of the Indian club, the Interior Department, who acted as master of ceremonies during the program of songs and recitations following his address.

Entertainment Program.

Musical numbers and recitations were given by Miss Lillian Chenoweth, Mrs. B. D. Shreve, Miss Helen Davis, Arthur Middleton, Miss Ruth Clayton and the Indian office quartet, consisting of Carol H. Ivens, Homer Smith, Mr. Weston and Mr. Taylor.

During the excursion proved one of the features of the outing. The landing for lunch, or supper as it really was, occurred at 6 o'clock. The meal took the form of a basket picnic, each member on the excursion having been previously warned to "bring your lunch."

While yellow badges, marking employees of the Indian office, predominated, red, blue, lavender and green badges, worn by employees in the survey office, pension, land and education, patent and Secretary's office, mine and reclamation, were much in evidence.

TOKE IS CONCILIATORY.

Austrian Press Comments on Note to the United States.

ZURICH, Switzerland, via London, July 18, 2:15 a.m.—The Austrian press comments in a conciliatory manner on the Austrian note to the United States. The newspapers recall the old-time Austro-American friendship, and point out that Austria can more easily approach the United States than the dual monarchy had no connection with the sinking of the Lusitania, or with the whole "chain of unfortunate misunderstandings" between the United States and Germany.

The Neue Freie Presse says: "The Austrian foreign minister appeals to America, not as a complainant, but as a friend seeking assistance. By forbidding the export of munitions the United States can gain glorious fame and do much to shorten the war."

KING OF ITALY UNDER FIRE.

He and Several Officers Target for Austrian Guns.

UDINE, Italy, via Lugano and Paris, July 17, 4:15 p.m.—King Victor Emmanuel recently stood his ground while he and a group of officers were the target of Austrian gunners, refusing to retire to a place of safety, because he was interested in watching a young Italian soldier who was trying to cut the wire entanglements in front of the Austrian trenches.

The king marked the progress of the wire cutter attentively from the time the latter left the Italian lines. The ruler and the officers about him attracted the attention of the Austrians, who for a time shelled them.

The soldier accomplished his task and returned unharmed.

VIENNA.

Special Correspondence of The Star.

VIENNA, Va., July 17.—E. L. S. Bouton, clerk of the Vienna school board, has completed the school census for the Vienna school district, which comprises the town of Vienna. The census shows a total of 172 persons of school age; that is, between the ages of seven and twenty. Of these 129 are white and 43 colored. It is a remarkable fact that of the children of school age on the census roll of five years ago, fifty-six have removed from Vienna, so that in the last five years these removals have been replaced and forty-two added, making a total gain of ninety-eight in the number of school children.

The ladies of the Episcopal Church have arranged for the annual picnic for the children of the Sunday school, which is to be held next Thursday at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Terrett at Briarwood. The children will be taken in wagons filled with hay to the farm, where games and contests will be enjoyed. Small prizes will be awarded. A basket luncheon will be served, and the children will have their usual ice cream treat.

Young Whalen of Fairfax, who had been wicketing good bats, showed great solicitude for the Pfeiffer boy, summoned a physician and did all he could to make the youth comfortable. Stephens Rippey was treated by a physician for a deep thigh cut, not serious.
